LOOKING FOR DEVELOPERS WITH STARTUP SPIRIT!

THE BURDA SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM (MUNICH) OFFERS A PAID INTERNSHIP FOR FULL-STACK DEVELOPERS
27.2 - 28.4.2017

Always wanted to get into media but didn't know how?

MEDIA BRAND IDEAS FROM SCRATCH

The Burda School of Journalism is looking for paid design interns (1200,- euros / month) to support 20 aspiring journalists during their final project in Munich.

Together with several teams you will be developing new media brands, testing them with real customers and bringing them to market to gain maximum traction. You will be responsible for all tech issues and working closely together with designers & product guys.

You will be working in a cool environment in Munich at Burda's headquarters and will get to know the media industry inside out. At the end of your internship you'll present your work in front of the board of directors of Burda.

WHAT WE EXPECT FROM YOU

You need to have advanced skills in full-stack web development. You will be performing tasks from idea generation to complete technical implementation (e.g. blog, landing page, newsletter, crawlers).

You need to have a good command of HTML / CSS (Bootstrap, responsive etc), JS, Ruby and other languages of your choice. You will be optimizing the projects for analytics and help teams to make right decisions.

Things will be changing fast and we will be testing a lot, so you need to understand how rapid prototyping works. Ideally you should also be familiar with PHP and content management systems (CMS).

CONTACT US

Natalia Karbasova
Head of Burda Bootcamp
natalia.karbasova@burda.com

APPLY TILL 10.2.2017

www.burdabootcamp.de/jschool